CD: Wyatt Tait, Designer: Sean Joyce

Initial Build Notes:

- The Apple Car is awesome! Would love to see elements like that in the other pages
- Type wise, some all caps moments to mimic the book covers would be nice as a way to highlight important words
- For the library section
    - A drop shadow on the hover state of the book covers would be nice
    - Also making the book get larger on hover state may help show which one is selected
    - More varied illustrations on the sides
    - On mobile versions the books may need to go to rows or rows of one, but making them reactive to scale would be good
    - Make sure on the landing page the section title links to the page
- About me section
    - Might be nice to have one of the larger town illustrations on this page
    - Border on his photo feels a little out of system
    - There is a lot more text in the wiki page that you could dump into this page and might make it feel more substantial
        - Could the use little image moments to break it up a bit
- Landing page:
    - Nav in foot is super helpful
    - An illustration in the foot could be nice
    - The button for more on the about me section feels a bit out of system